ABOUT MYSELF

Hello, I'm Nurettin Mustafa Özkaya. I am currently pursuing a degree in Computer Engineering. I'm studying at Hasan Kalyoncu University in the Computer Engineering department, and I've decided to follow my passion and build a career in this field.

Throughout my education, I have been learning core subjects such as computer science, software development, and hardware engineering. In addition, my interest in areas like artificial intelligence, data science, and big data has driven me to conduct in-depth research in these topics. I've completed several projects, which I share on platforms like GitHub and LinkedIn — feel free to check them out if you're interested.

Throughout my career, I have been improving both my software development skills and my ability to manage teams. At the same time, I strive to continuously renew myself by keeping up with technological advancements and maintaining my passion for lifelong learning.
